(Nashville American, Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 8th, 1887.)

"Every seat in the large chapel at Vanderbilt University was filled last night, the most cultured people of our city having turned out to greet Mr. Thos. Nelson Page, of Virginia, whose eminence as an author and reader has been made familiar to all.

Mr. Page at once began his admirable reading of "Mare Chas." This is the story which was published three years ago, and which won for its author the distinction of having written the most exquisite story of the war which has yet appeared. In it are gems of pathos, humor and dramatic effect which could emanate only from the highest type of genius. Written as it is in the peculiar negro dialect ever charming, when faithfully portrayed, which Mr. Page has so thoroughly mastered, it is made by his reading entertaining beyond comment. From the first sentence to the last word, the attention of the keenly appreciative audience and by the play of feelings upon faces around him, a mute could have told the sentiment the moment rendered by the fascinating and most natural reader. Sometimes so rapid were the changes made by the faithful old negro's fancy, from the most pathetic description to a ludicrous vagary of the imagination, that the tear called forth by a tender thought was followed, ere it left the eye, by one called in play by unexpected humor.

So well modulated is Mr. Page's voice, so fully does he reveal every thought and reflect the most delicate and almost imperceptible shadings of sentiment, that a cultivated audience is to him a delicately strung instrument, from which he calls notes sweeter and clearer than they were conscious of possessing.

When the reading ceased there was for a moment the stillness of death, the audience being so thoroughly lost in enjoyment that applause was forgotten. Then like a storm it came, continuing so long that the favored reader must have grown weary of bowing his thanks."

At the Opera House, Saturday evening, May 16th.

Col. Thos. Rodman and his daughters were out driving on the Glens Creek pike Thursday afternoon, and in attempting to cross the L. & N. track at the Walcutt fill came near being run over by a train. FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

FRANKFORT, MAY 9, 1891.

Mrs. Buhr Will Wed.

The Ladies Delighted.

The pleasant effect and the perfect safety with which ladies may use the liquid fruit laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions make it their favorite remedy. It is pleasing to the eye and to the taste, gentle, yet effectual in acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels. 34-lm.

Terribly Off.

We are requested by Jailer Williams to say that the account of the attempted escape of Johnson, the burglar, from the jail in this city, which appeared in the Louisville Courier-Journal, was greatly exaggerated and contained very little if any truth. He also says the only account of the affair anything like correct appeared in the last issue of the ROUNDABOUT, the only mistake we made was in speaking of his son as "Deputy Jailer" as he has no deputy.

Democratic County Convention.

The Democratic party of Franklin county met in mass convention at the Court-house on Saturday for the purpose of appointing delegates to the State Convention, which meets in Louisville on Wednesday, May 18th. The Convention was called to order by J. W. Gaines, Chairman of the Franklin County Democratic Committee, and G. W. Hall was elected chairman and W. H. Parrent chosen Secretary.

On motion, the convention adjourned to the State-house yard.

On motion, the delegates from each precinct were directed to get together and select those persons whom they desired to represent them in the State convention.

After considerable wrangling in some of the precinct meetings, the Court-house having to hold two meetings before their action would stick, the following list of delegates was agreed upon.

Court-house—All good Democrats. Market-house—Dr. E. E. Hume, L. J. Cox, Frank Halloran, John Hawkins, Albert Jeffers and Lewis Mangum.

Gas-house—J. M. Wakefield, R. E. Gaines, John Tobin, W. T. Gaines, J. W. Heffner, S. V. Pence, T. B. Ford, D. L. Haly, W. McCloy, Hugh Rodman, J. D. Kehoe and B. B. Jeffers.

Benson—J. O. Anderson and Ezra Allison.

Forks of Elkhorn—South Trimble and Ed. P. Bryan.

Peak's Mill—W. O. Pickett and T. E. Daley.

Bloomington—Wm. Hayden and James Carr.

The following resolution was then adopted:

WHEREAS, The county of Franklin is the home of W. T. B. South, candidate for State Treasurer, and of J. Alex. Grant, candidate for Register of the Land Office, as a merited compliment to these gentlemen,

Resolved, That the Democracy of Franklin county, in Convention assembled, that the delegates representing this county in the State Democratic Convention, to be held in the city of Louisville on May 18th, are instructed to cast the vote of this county for W. T. B. South, for State Treasurer, and for J. Alex. Grant, for Register of the Land Office, and to use all honorable means to secure their nomination, and that the delegates are directed to cast the vote of the county on all questions as a unit.

The meeting then adjourned.

J. W. Gayle, the druggist, desires us to publish the following testimonial as he handles the remedy and believes it to be reliable.

I bought a 50 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and applied it to my limbs, which have been afflicted with rheumatism at intervals for one year. At the time I bought the Pain Balm I was unable to walk. I can truthfully say that Pain Balm has completely cured me. R. H. Parr, Hollywood, Kansas, Mr. A. B. Cox, the leading druggist at Hollywood, vouches for the truth of the above statement. 34-lm.

Through the Weary Hours

Of many a night, made doubly long by its protracted agony, the rheumatic sufferer tossed to and fro on his sleepless couch, vainly striving for that rest which only comes by fits and starts. His misery is one which ordinary medicines cannot fail to relieve, but there is ample evidence to prove that the efficient blood purifier, Hostetter's Stomach Bitter, affords the most reliable means of relief. Check the malady in its incipient stages, when the first premonitory twinges come on, with this agreeable medicine, and confidence should not be abandoned. Wholesale liberators of the active influence of the Bitter upon the system is that it relieves an audience relating to life itself in more direct and positive than that which relates to its action in cases of rheumatism. Like all curing medicines, however, it deserves a protracted system of trial and should not be abandoned because not at once remedied. It is equally efficient in dyspepsia, indigestion and kindred diseases.

The Grand Commandery, which will be in session at that time, will act as escort to the Grand Lodge, and the procession will be quite an imposing one.

FROM BAD TO WORSE.

The ordinary treatment of contagious blood poisoning is to drive one poison from the system by introducing another. The result, in most cases, has been that which usually follows a leap from the frying-pan into the fire. To put it mildly, mercurial and other mineral poisonings have disadvantages which are hardly less serious than contagious blood poisoning. In either case the system is wrecked; and yet there is no reason why humanity should continue to suffer. It is the office of S. S. S. to cure contagious blood poisoning. For that disease the medicine is surely a specific. And it is also its office to cure mercurial and other mineral poisoning. In short, S. S. S. is the great blood purifier. It destroys the germs of the contagious disease, and expels from the system all forms of mineral poisoning. It restores health and strength to the sufferer.

PEN PICTURES OF A LUNATIC.

Some Thrilling Incidents Graphically Described by an Insane Woman.

One of the brightest lunatics that ever lingered in the shadow of grim prison walls is the female who now occupies a front room at the Shelby county jail. With perhaps the exception of a flighty remark occasionally, and now and then a silly hilarious outburst, there is nothing in the demeanor of Annie P. Hinson that indicates a disturbed reason. She is a woman of culture, and converses with a degree of intelligence that is worthy of women of sounder mind and of higher station in life. But not only does the woman exhibit her intellectual advantage in conversation, but with the pen—albeit perhaps the secret of apparent sanity—she is graphic and picturesque.

Since her incarceration she has amused herself by writing the history of her life in several chapters, and in this work she has displayed a familiarity with one of the finest arts. She paints an ocean scene with an ease of beauty that rivals the pen of Dickens in description. After dealing separately with the characters on board of a certain ship, by way of preface the inmate writer turns her pen to the captain of the vessel.

"Glancing to the west the captain discovered a small cloud scudding in a northwesterly direction. Danger is upon the ship, and suddenly a pall of gloom hovers around the crew, the lightning flashes and the thunder roars, and the mad waves lock arms in fury, bursting and splashing against the ship, which trembles at the anger of the storm."

Following this is a description of a collision between two ships at sea in the darkness, when "two powerful engines melt at the demon's feet," and timbers "crash and fall" and "the wind moans with the terrible echo of screams." One of the ill-fated vessels sinks while it is yet blazing, and many people go down into the sea, among the fated a young married couple on a bridal tour. When the last portion of the ship was seen to dip in the water the couple could be plainly seen, their arms wrapped around each other, while the "scorching flames about them crackled and licked madly at their lives."

Down they went together on their bridal tour, which was, perhaps, longer than anticipated. Then comes the morning after—"the terrible storm, when the sun, creeping up the eastern slope like a huge ball of fire, to dawn upon the charred and blackened timbers of the ill-fated ship as they dived along on the surface of the now calm ocean." These are only a few extracts from one of the most interesting chapters of the story. The story is full of sorrow and bustles with a peculiar interest.—Memphis Democrat.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky, as second-class matter.

Geo. A. Lewis, Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, MAY 9, 1891.

Three Reasons Why

The people of Kentucky should adopt the new Constitution. The first reason is that the whole spirit and purpose of the instrument is to guard and protect the rights and interests of the people, and put it forever out of the power of all corporations and other moneyed combinations to oppress the plain people and honest laborers of the State. All that the people have to do to know that the new Constitution will have this effect is to get a copy of it and read it. Two hundred thousand copies have been printed in pamphlet form and distributed throughout every neighborhood in the State so that the people may read it for themselves, and know for a certainty that the highest aim of the new Constitution is to put it out of the power of any and all corporations and moneyed combinations to oppress the laboring and producing classes any longer. They have already oppressed the people long enough. These people have groaned under the burdens long enough, and the adoption of the new Constitution will proclaim the freedom of the laboring classes from the power of their taskmasters. After it is adopted all banks and railroads and mining companies and other moneyed powers and monopolies will have to pay taxes on all they are worth, just like the poor man will have to pay taxes on what his little farm and cow are worth, and this will lighten the burden of taxation on the poor, when these rich corporations can no longer hide their wealth, but must list it all with the assessor, and pay taxes in proportion to their wealth. This is but fair, and will reduce the rate of taxation on all, while it will put more taxes into the Treasury than have heretofore been collected under the old system, which in one way or another allowed the wealthy corporations to own millions but only pay taxes on thousands, while the poor man had no power to keep from paying taxes on his only horse and cow.

In addition many of the rich corporations, especially the mining companies, have heretofore been in the habit of paying their laborers in tickets or checks payable in goods at the stores of the companies, which checks could not be cashed elsewhere for more than 50 cents to the dollar. This was but a scheme resorted to by the companies to compel the laborers to take their pay in goods at an enormous profit. The new Constitution nips this little scheme of oppression in the bud, and provides that the laborers shall be paid in nothing but money, and that he shall be free to purchase his bread, meat and clothing wherever he can get them cheapest. Every wage-worker in Kentucky should vote for a Constitution which with a strong hand will deliver him and his from the power of the oppressor.

In the second place, the new Constitution further protects the rights and privileges of the plain citizens by abolishing the old system of voting at elections, and substituting the secret ballot system in its stead. Heretofore the laborer was bound to call out his vote in the presence and hearing of his employer. If he voted to suit his master he was retained in his employment; if he asserted his right to vote different from the wishes of his employer he ran the risk of incurring his displeasure or losing his situation. Under the old system it was no unusual thing for powerful corporations to attempt to control the vote of all their employes regardless of the wishes of their laborers. These must have been trying ordeals to the wage-workers. Under the new Constitution the employer and the wage-worker will stand on one common floor of equality. It will be impossible for the one to have any control over the vote of the other, for neither can possibly know how the other votes. It will do away with corruption at elections.

The poor man can cast his secret ballot for the party or the candidate of his choice with as much freedom as if he owned an entire railroad himself. It will be useless to attempt to influence or purchase his vote, for it will be impossible for anyone to see that he delivers the vote according to contract. But the great achievement which the laborer gains by this provision is that he will no longer be subject to the insult of those who would be base enough to attempt to purchase his vote; there will no longer be any such thing as degrading free citizens by attempts to purchase their votes. In the very nature of things there will be no market for the purchase of votes or the offering of bribes at elections. There will be no votes for sale, and no purchasers in the market, for the purchasers will find it out of his power to see that the goods are delivered. What a glorious day this will be for the poor man, when he can feel assured that he can walk erect to the polls and cast his vote like a free man without being subjected to any insult from those who have heretofore been the proud oppressors of the poor.

In the third place, the new Constitution ought to be accepted by every man in the State who has a child to educate in the common schools, as it turns into the school fund the entire $600,000 which Kentucky will shortly receive from the Federal Government under a recent act of Congress. Fifty other reasons might be given why the new Constitution should be adopted, but these three are enough to show that the document has been especially prepared to guard and protect the rights, honor and interests of the masses of the people against oppression by the corporations and moneyed powers of the land, and in this way do even-handed justice by all. It ought to be adopted by 100,000 majority.

Got Nipped.

The heavy frost of Wednesday night did a great deal of damage to early gardens and grape vines in this locality, but the large fruit was not injured to any extent.

Guess Not.

The Kentucky Midland will run trains between Frankfort and Georgetown hereafter on Sunday—George-Enterprise has been collected under the old system, which in one way or another allowed the wealthy corporations to own millions but only pay taxes on thousands, while the poor man had no power to keep from paying taxes on his only horse and cow.

Larkin Johnson, a colored man, aged about thirty years, was stricken with death Monday morning while walking along Washington street, near the Steam Laundry, and fell to the pavement a corpse. Coroner Dehoney was notified and held an inquest upon the body, the jury returning a verdict of death from heart failure, superinduced by hard drink.

Mine Host Pence.

Capt. Sandy V. Pence, the well known steamboatman, has purchased from the Hotel Kenyon Co. their lease of that establishment and took charge of it on Sunday. Capt. Sandy has a host of friends up and down the river who will not fail to call and see him when in the city, and with the assistance of his estimable wife, who will have charge of the housekeeping department, he should make his new venture a success.

Mr. Page to Read.

Mr. Thomas Nelson Page, of Richmond, Va., the celebrated writer, will, by invitation of a large number of our citizens, give a reading from his own writings at the Opera House on Saturday evening next, the 16th inst. Mr. Page is one of the most entertaining writers of the present day, and his fame is not confined to the South but he has gained a world-wide reputation. The entertainment will be a literary treat and he should be greeted by a large audience.

Donned the Stripes.

Hume Clay, the Clark county forger, who was sentenced to the Penitentiary for ten and a half years at the recent term of the Bourbon Circuit Court, was brought to the Penitentiary Saturday evening by the Sheriff of Bourbon county. He bore up very well until the train upon the Middle, upon which he came, started down the grade leading to this city, when he broke down and went like a child. He was accompanied by his father-in-law, Capt. J. M. Thomas. He has been put to work as book-keeper in the broom factory.

Republican Convention.

In pursuance to a call of the Chairman of the County Committee, the Republicans of Franklin county met at the Court House Monday afternoon for the purpose of appointing delegates to the State Convention which meets at Lexington on the 20th inst. Capt. E. M. Drane called the meeting to order and, after a few remarks, announced that nominations were in order for the office of Chairman.

Mr. W. B. Robinson and Capt. Drane were placed in nomination and immediately a squabble arose over the count of the votes for the respective candidates, which was kept up for some time, and both gentlemen took the stand to preside over the meeting. Mr. Robinson addressed the crowd at considerable length, pitching into the Government office holders and Capt. Drane, as Chairman of the County Committee, after which, at the suggestion of some one, Capt. Drane and his supporters adjourned to the United States Court-room in the Custom House, where the following proceedings were had:

Capt. Drane was unanimously chosen chairman, and Mr. J. W. Jenkins selected Secretary.

On motion, the Chair appointed the following committee to select delegates:

G. W. Hardin, Graves Hancock, Wilder Dupuy, G. F. Stigers, Louis Weitzel, C. Logan Smith, J. B. Snellen, John Freeman, A. H. Waggoner, Thos. J. Hutchison.

Who reported the following:

The report of the committee was adopted and then the meeting adjourned.

J. W. JENKINS, Sec'y.
E. M. DRANE, Chairman.

Court Day.

Both the Common Pleas and County Courts met on Monday, as well as the Republican County Convention, consequently there was a large crowd in town.

The offerings of stock upon the streets were quite numerous and the following sales are reported:

Dr. Kelley has been visiting this city regularly for nearly seven years, and the many cures he has made, among the wealthy and influential citizens are sufficient evidence of his success.

It is now a well known fact that the disease of the stomach, liver, kidney, bladder and nervous system are either cured or aggravated by the use of PILES, FISTULA, FISSURES or RECTAL ULCER.

Dame Nature is a Good Book-keeper.

She don't let us stay long in her debt before we settle for what we owe her. She gives us a few years' grace at the most, but the reckoning surely comes. Have you neglected a cough or allowed your blood to grow impure without heeding the warnings? Be wise in time, and get the world-famed Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which cures as well as prevents. It is a blood-purifier, a lung-healer, and a cure for scrofulous taints, it towers above all others, as Olympus towers a molehill. To warrant a commodity is to be honorable and above deception, and a guarantee is a symbol of honest dealing. You get it with every bottle of the "Discovery." By druggists.

Among the Colored Citizens.

The teachers had a fine meeting Friday night. The reading of the paper on the duties of teachers was good and very pointed.

Both the May Festival and concert last night were well attended.

Prof. Jackson delivered a great speech at the First Independent Baptist Church to the Teachers Institute Friday night. He dwelt principally upon Education, and it deserved a larger crowd. We hope he will be able to repeat it when more are present.

Mr. Evans, of the Normal School, also delivered an address that made quite a hit.

Mr. Garvin, one of the young orators of the Normal School, made a big bread-eagle speech Friday that won him many compliments.

Sunday was the big rally day for the First Independent Baptist Church, and quite a large sum was raised towards paying off the Church debt. Rev. Turner preached during the day and Rev. Godley at night. A large crowd was present.

The first baptizing that was ever performed in a pool inside of a colored Church in Frankfort will be administered by Rev. Cuddeis Sunday night. We are unable to give the number who will be baptized. This Church is taking front rank among Kentucky Christians.

Mr. Tyler, of Lexington, was in the city Sunday.

The regular meeting of Missionary Society will be held at the St. John A. M. E. Church Sunday (to-morrow). An excellent programme has been prepared and all are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Coleman were in the city this week to pay his mother a visit. They leave for Louisville, where they will start an art school.

Miss Martha Craig, one of Versailles' fairest daughters, was in the city the first of the week. On Monday night she was tendered an entertainment at the Club house by our society people, at which a pleasant time was had by all up to the wee-small hours. She left for home Tuesday much pleased with her short visit.

A Complete Collapse

Is occasioned in our feelings of derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure sick and bilious headaches, bowel complaints, internal fever and constiveness. They remove all waste matter, and restore health to body and mind. A dose, as a laxative, consists of one tiny, sugar-coated Pellet. Cheapest and easiest to take. By druggist, 25 cents a vial.

Resolution of Thanks.

Knowing the success of our recent anniversary, which took place at our Temple on April 26th, a debt of gratitude is due to the committee on Freshmonts, composed of our brethren's wives, sisters, and daughters; for without their assistance there would have been but little interest felt on that occasion, and our ministers of the Gospel, Rev. E. A. Ponick, Rev. W. C. Taylor, and Rev. H. G. Henderson, for able services performed by them on the two above dates. Also the FRESHMONT, therefore be it Resolved, That Capital Lodge No. 6, I. O. O. F., extend a unanimous vote of thanks for their able assistance in making the seventy-second anniversary of the order of Odd Fellowship a grand success, and that our city papers be requested to copy same in their columns, and the Secretary of Capital Lodge No. 6, I. O. O. F., be notified to spread the same upon the minutes of the next meeting.

The Mythological Fates.

"Somewhere upon the unknown shore,
Where the streams of life their waters pour,
There sit three sisters, evermore
Weaving a silken thread."

Lovers of classic paintings are familiar with that famous group, the "Three Fates." Fate seems cruel when it deprives woman and girls of health. But in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they find a cure of untold value for nervous prostration, sick headache, bearing-down pains, bloating, with stomach, anteversion, retroversion, and all those excruciating complaints that make their lives miserable. All who use it praise it. It contains no hurtful ingredients, and is guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or its price ($1.00) will be refunded.

A DUTY TO YOURSELF.

It is surprising that people will use a common, ordinary pill when they can secure a valuable English one for the same money. Dr. Acker's English pills are a positive cure for sick headache and all liver troubles. They are small, sweet, easily taken, and do not grip.

Will destroy all Disease Germs, infection from all Fevers and all contagious diseases.

A Valuable Discovery.

Dr. Brown Sequard's elixir of youth may be an important discovery, but every one knows that Dr. F. W. Mies' New Heart Cure certainly is. It has given thousands afflicted with serious heart disease a new lease of life. Druggists, who can observe its effects on many customers, everywhere speak very highly of it. Mr. John Weaver, of Knightstown, Ind., says: "I have sold much of Dr. Mies' New Cure and have received many good reports." O. Monroe, of Dunkirk, N. Y., reports large sales. "And the best part of it is every bottle has given satisfaction." Sold and guaranteed by J. W. Gayle.

make a long tail (tale) short. A man, after he has eaten a good dinner, may feel extravagantly joyous; but the next day—oh! but he is surly and grim, his stomach and liver are sluggish, he is morose, despondent and "out of sorts" generally. But he may get a prompt return for his money by purchasing Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

There's nothing like them. They are tiny Liver Pills, sugar-coated, but thorough in results. One Pellet is laxative, three to four cathartic.

For Indigestion, Biliousness, and all derangements of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they work like a charm, and you get a lasting benefit and a permanent cure.

They're the cheapest Pill, because safe and sure, while the manufacturers guarantee they'll give satisfaction, or your money is returned!

You only pay for the good you get. Can you ask more?

What's the use! suffering any more from those dizzy spells, the headaches and all; make the attack yourself, with one or two of these little, Sugar-coated Pellets, and they will do the rest. They are a perfect vest-pocket remedy. Purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. By druggists, 25 cents a vial.

VOL. XIV. . . . NUMBER 35

FRANKFORT, KY., MAY 9, 1891

JOHN ROBINSON'S HOLIDAYS.

A Fairy-land Carnival for his Little Friends.

Without doubt John Robinson's transcendently grand and magnificent show is the children's paradise, whether they be the heirs to fortune or to years of grinding labor. The very air seems laden with soothing perfumes, the music hath the charms of sweet strains in fairy-land, and the place itself is enchanted. If to those children who have had much it is all this, how much more it is to those who have nothing? Imagination colors all with the joyous coloring that vanishes with childhood. To the little miss in neat dress and dainty hat, and to the little lad with patch on pants and well-worn cap, it is equal to a magic realm of Arabian Nights wonders, pleasures and surprises.

John Robinson bears much the same relationship to bright, pushing, curious, irrepressible childhood that Santa Claus does to the world at large. The children look upon him with commingled wonder and affection as the veritable sovereign of fairy-land, and he reciprocates their confidence and regard in right royal fashion. He says that "a happy child is the most likely to make an honest man," and carries out this theory by fairly overwhelming his little friends with innocent fun, wonder and delightful instruction. To please them is the pet hobby of his old age, and the energy and ingenuity he displays in that direction is simply marvelous. He collects great companies of clowns, caravans, cavalades, and aviaries of birds, wild beasts, horses and ponies, for that special purpose. There is a most uproarious carnival of two and four-legged grotesques; fools in motley fur and feathers; a hairy, dwarf elephant riding a bicycle; trick seals, zebras, dogs, ponies, pigs, bears, sheep, oxen, goats, roosters, pigeons, pelicans, monkeys, and other beasts and birds, besides all the amazing performances in mid-air, in the circus rings and on the elevated Olympian stages; the stupendous, gorgeous and thrilling scenes in the sublimely grand and spectacular biblical drama of King Solomon, his Temple, and the Queen of Sheba, indisputably the grandest scenic production of the age, with its beautiful costuming, magnificent trapping and appropriate ballet. The combined entertainment constituting the most instructive and amusing exhibition for both old and young ever witnessed in the world. But are we not all children when Robinson comes?

The Edwards Heirs.

In obedience to the wishes of a large number of the Robert Edwards heirs, living in various States, and in response to resolutions passed at a meeting held at Indianapolis, Ind., and Frankfort, Ky., we do hereby call a general meeting of Robt. Edwards' heirs to assemble at Louisville, Ky., on Thursday, May 25, 1891. We hope there will be a large attendance, either in person or by attorney, bringing with them all the important evidence they have or can procure—either of heirship or title to the Robt. Edwards estate of New York City, as very important business will be transacted at said meeting.
